

It's a great day,

Edgemont Elementary was well represented in the Robotics competition at BYU this Saturday. Ben Swift, Thomas Won and Jong Bae Won built a robot and put it through its paces over the obstacle course. At first it kept tipping off the pyramid but they did not give up. The boys altered the design time and time again until the balance was just right and they succeeded in going over the top of the obstacle. (This was accomplished in the time liimit they were given.) Well done to the Robotics Club!!
